THE 7AYAN INTERVIEW RECAP

it has been a month since we here @HBRR recorded the 7ayan x HBRR interview and we are here for a recap.

the interview was absolute bat shit crazy to record we had a crybaby 7ayan to work with as well as a Host who forgot every other question with a total of about 5 retakes 6 pairs of shoes thrown some socks books and a trash can it wasn't surprising when 7ayan broke down and stormed out the room crying when asked if he was emo for about the 100th time.

We are here to apologize to the artists about the shoes socks and bare foot from our co host on his jeans and would kindly invite him back / if you read this 7ayan please come back after the next project for a interview we would love to host you

HBRR does not accept submission for podcast the creatives chosen to be on the podcast are all reached out to please do not dm us asking to be on a podcast not to be rude but it will be ignored

TATMYNAME
HBRR ROOM 102

Im Tatmyname and im 16 years old from California born and raised. People say the environment you're in and surrounded by can change the way you wanna live. It could make you think dreams very big or you're so surrounded by the negativity around you that the thought of having dreams doesn't even pass your mind. For as many places i lived at good or bad i've always dreamed big and kept my dreams towards my interest which is music. at 16 now im making it happen and working towards my goal just like you can. Dont be scared to try things. Dont be afraid to be yourself.
